The Workplace Learning Guidelines have undertaken a lengthy process of revision in order to address legislative changes that have transpired since the release of the Workplace Learning Guidelines 2004 (updated 2008). This includes the Work Health and Safety Act 2012 which provides a framework to protect the health, safety and welfare of all workers (including work experience students). A significant proportion of the revisions for the Workplace Learning Guidelines have clarified the school's responsibilities under the Child Protection Act (1993) with the inclusion of child safe environments and risk assessment of students entering work placements. Essential information contained in Child Safe Environments: Principles of Good Practice (2012) has also been included.
